

《Harvard Business Review on What Makes a Leader 怎样做领导》

书籍信息

版次：1

页数：210

字数：

印刷时间：

开本：32开

纸张：胶版纸

包装：平装

是否套装：否

国际标准书号ISBN：9781578516377

内容简介

The Harvard Business Review Paperback Series is designed to bring today's managers and professionals the fundamental information they need to stay competitive in a fast-moving world. From the preeminent thinkers whose work has defined an entire field to the rising stars who will redefine the way we think about business, here are the leading minds and landmark ideas that have established the Harvard Business Review as required reading for ambitious businesspeople in organizations around the globe.

The latest thinking in the field of leadership is collected in this volume. With all-new articles published in the last three years and two articles from leadership guru, Daniel Goleman, this collection is a must have for CEOs and top level managers. The volume also pays special attention to leadership succession issues.

目录

What Makes a Leader?

Narcissistic Leaders: The Incredible Pros, the Inevitable Cons

Leadership That Gets Results

Getting the Attention You Need

The Successor's Dilemma

The Rise and Fall of the J. Petermhn Company

Why Should Anyone Be Led by You?

Leading Through Rough Times: An Interview with Novell's Eric Schmidt

About the Contributors

Index

本站所提供下载的PDF图书仅提供预览和简介，请支持正版图书。

更多资源请访问www.tushupdf.com