内容简介

Thirty-somethings Faith and Peter believe themselves to be happily married. On the surface they have a charmed life:successful careers-he as a publisher, she as a TV weather girl-two slightly odd, but loveable teenagers, and a sparky dog called Graham.

But at their anniversary party Faith finds the champagne suddenly tastes a little flat.For,out of the blue,her Best Friend Lily makes a barbed comment about Peter which sets Faith's alarm bells ringing. Why is he looking unusually trim and smart? And why is he so jumpy of late? And whatever can Lily be up to, when she's always claimed to have only Faith's 'best interests'at heart?

As Faith's niggling doubts turn to eddp unease, she feels the chill factor kick in . And as she sets out to reapture the sunny days of her past, Faith is forced to acknowledge that, for the time being at least, the outlook is edcidedly unsettled...
